Drastic Revision of Rules
Governing White Unit
Marked Meeting of Hospitals Committee.

DEPOSED DOCTORS ARE REINSTATED

Move To Place Operations of White Unit Under Supervision of Emory
University Deferred.

Drastic revision of rules governing the white unit of Grady hospital and changes in the staff for the "good of the service" marked the meeting of the hospitals and charities committee of city council Friday night and brought threats of appeals to the courts by certain members of the staff.

The committee reached its decision by unanimous vote in an executive session from which the public was barred, and announced at its conclusion that the positions of "chiefs" of departments had been abolished, that a complete new staff for the white unit had been selected and that other drastic measures "which are final for the year" had been placed into effect.

Four Doctors Reinstated

Dr. H. R. Donaldson, Dr. LeRoy Childs, Dr. Frank Eskridge and Dr. Garnett Quillian, all of whom were deposed as chiefs at the last meeting of the 1927 committee, December 20, were reinstated as visiting staff members and Dr. C. C. Aven, who not only was named a chief of the medical staff by the 1927 committee but also a member of the executive committee, was deposed. Dr. R. T. Dorsey was named in his place.

Instead of the "consulting staff" which the 1927 committee named, the 1928 committee appointed "consulting members" and "visiting members" instead of chiefs of staff. The visiting members will select their assistant visiting members, but these assistants will not have a vote in the staff meetings, as was permitted "associates" under the ruling of the 1927 committee.

Emory Move Deferred.
A move to place operation of the white unit under supervision of Emory university was deferred because it was decided "the time is not ripe."

Those favoring the change declared the move would prove of great benefit to the university, to the people of the city and county, and would permit establishment of a graduate school of medicine in connection with the medical course at Emory. It was said that a large fund could be obtained for the institution if it were turned over to the university to operate.

Court Action Is Seen

Dr. Marion Benson, former chairman of the executive committee, and other members of the staff predicted Friday night that the drastic changes which were made by the committee would be "enjoined in the courts."

Under a ruling of the committee they are to become effective immediately, unless court action is taken this morning.

Those opposing action of the committee pointed out that members of the 1927 committee wished to institute certain changes in the staff, but were unable to put them into effect under a ruling made by City Attorney

New York, March 9.—(AP)—Unbridled speculation in the common stock of the General Motors corporation, which went "over the top" for the sixth consecutive session with a gain of $9.25 a share to $159.75, started a wild orgy of buying in other speculative issues on the New York Stock exchange today which carried the day's sales to 3,706,500 shares, the second largest in history. Extreme gains ranged from $3 to $17.25 a share, but many of these were cut down by profit-taking.

At the close of the market today the average of 20 leading industrial issues, compiled by the Associated Press, was just 1-5 of a point below the record high for all time established on the first day of trading this year.

Adds Millions to Value.
The gain in General Motors today added $165,950,000 to the market value of the 17,400,000 shares of common stock outstanding, bringing the appreciation in aggregate quoted value during the last week to $308,875,000. At today's closing price of 159-3/4, the market value of all General Motors common outstanding was $2,770,350,000, contrasting with its par value ($25 per share) of only $435,000,000. Today's sales of the stock were 500,400 shares, making the total transactions during the past week in excess of 2,500,000 shares.

Two factors were behind the sensational buying movement today, the unexpected decrease of more than $26,000,000 in federal reserve "loans," and the announcement that the Managers Securities company, owned by General Motors executives, and

HOUSE COMMITTEE APPROVES GREECE DEBT SETTLEMENT

Washington, March 9.—(AP)—Over the protest of its entire democratic membership, the house ways and means committee today approved the war debt settlement negotiated with the Greek government by the now extinct American debt funding commission. Republicans unanimously supported the proposal.

Representative Garner, of Texas, the ranking democrat, announced that his colleague, Crisp, of Georgia, a representative of the minority party on the debt funding committee, would draft a report vigorously opposing the settlement.

"Greece now owes us $18,000,000," Garner said. The settlement proposes that it will pay us 34 cents on the dollar. It is said that this is all Greece can afford to pay.

"In the face of this statement, the settlement then proposes to lend Greece $12,000,000 more, to be repaid in full plus 4 per cent interest."

JURY DELIBERATES FATE OF HICKMAN IN TOMS MURDER

Second Trial of Slayer of Young Parker Girl
Comes To Close After Bitter Fight.

Los Angeles, March 9.—(AP)—A jury in superior court tonight took under consideration the case of William Edward Hickman and Welby Hunt, accused slayers of C. Ivy Toms, druggist, who was shot to death in a holdup of his drug store a year ago Christmas eve.

Final arguments of state's counsel and of attorneys for the two former pals in crime—each of whom accused the other of firing the fatal shot, were concluded late today, and the jury received its instructions from Superior Judge Elliott Craig. The jurors retired at 5:40 p. m.

Judge Craig instructed the jury to return separate verdicts on the guilt or innocence of each defendant and also that it should consider the sanity of Hickman. It was instructed that the legal definition under California law of sanity was the ability to distinguish between right and wrong.

Instructions were given that if Hunt, a minor, was found guilty the jury must fix the penalty at life imprisonment.

A few minutes after the jury, which consists of six men and six women, received the case, they were taken out for dinner.

Consideration of their verdicts was to be continued afterward.

Hickman is already under sentence to be hanged for the murder of Marian Parker. His counsel urged a life term for him rather than another sentence of death. Hunt's attorneys urged acquittal of the 17-year-old youth on the ground that he had been dominated by Hickman.

Oil Slush Probe To Reopen Today

Five More Witnesses
Summoned by Senate;
Former Confidant of G.
O. P. Chief Sought.

Washington, March 9.—(AP)—A further excursion into the financial affairs of the republican national committee, with special reference to the use of Liberty bond profits of the extinct Continental Trading company to wipe out a deficit in 1923, is to be made tomorrow by the senate Teapot Dome committee.

Five witnesses have been summoned, among them the attorney for and employees of the Pratt estate, who are to be questioned as to Liberty bond transactions of the late John T. Pratt, of New York city, who, the evidence shows, received $50,000 of the $200,000 of Liberty bonds which Harry F. Sinclair turned over in 1923 to Will B. Hays, former chairman of the republican national committee, for use in extinguishing the deficit of the committee contracted during the 1920 campaign.

The attorney, Edmund Det Bechtel and the employees, L. C. Amos and V. E. Hommel, are directed to bring all records showing the receipt by Pratt or anyone for him of any Liberty bonds from Hays, Sinclair or Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, as well as the disposition of such bonds.

In addition, the committee is to call I. H. Hipsley, of Chicago, one time secretary to the late Fred W. Upham, treasurer of the republican national committee, from 1920 to 1924, and Miss Flora H. Johnson, secretary to B. A. Eckhart, a Chicago miller, who, the committee has information, disposed of some of the $80,000 in Sinclair bonds which Hays said he sent to Upham in 1923.

A subpoena has been issued for A. V. Leonard, of Chicago, once an assistant secretary to Upham, but thus far the process servers have been unable to locate him.

'Lame Duck' Amendment Fails by 36 Votes To Se- cure Necessary Two- Thirds Majority.

PARTIES SPLIT UP IN FINAL VOTE

Washington, March 9.—(AP)—The White-Norris constitutional amendment to abolish "lame duck" sessions of congress and change the presidential inaugural date was rejected today by the house.

The vote was 200 to 157, with two members answering present. This was 36 votes less than the two-thirds necessary for approval of constitutional amendments.

The house action, taken after three days of debate, during which republican leaders led a vigorous fight against the "proposal, definitely shelved the amendment for this session of congress, at least. The amendment, in slightly modified form, was approved earlier this session by the senate, which in three previous congresses had voted for its adoption.

The amendment sought to change meeting date of congress from March 4 to January 4. This "old fashioned" "lame duck" sessions of congress or those in which its members were elected at earlier elections. To conform with this change, the resolution proposed to have the president take office on January 24, instead of March 4.

Party lines disappeared entirely in the voting. The proportion of republicans and democrats was about the same in the supporting and opposing groups.

Chief of the opposition, republican floor leader, Martin Madden, of Illinois, chairman of the appropriations committee, said:

Accused Bureau Defends Grading

Agriculture Official Declares Error in Cotton
Grades No More Than
2 1/2 Per Cent.

Washington, March 9.—(AP)—Government cotton grading experts stood pat today before a senate subcommittee on the correctness of their judgment in granting certificates for tenable cotton under the cotton futures act.

The senate's inquiry into causes of the cotton market slump of last fall has reached a point where the committee is endeavoring to establish definitely the grade of 200,000 bales of certified cotton concentrated in New York warehouses and alleged to have been used as a club to beat down cotton prices.

Speaking for the department of agriculture, Lloyd S. Trent, chief of the agricultural economics bureau, said a review by the Washington board of experts would be welcomed, but would cost about $1 a bale for resampling. Faced by the necessity of going to congress for a $200,000 appropriation to cover that work, the committee considered other means of establishing the truth of charges that the New York cotton is made up of actually below standard bales culled from many shipments and held as a threat over the market since it is, by rumor, unsuitable for spinner use and therefore not purchased.

Trent denied that the 21 per cent error in government grading reported to the committee yesterday was typical. On the contrary, he said, a rough estimate of the error factor in classification and grading would put it at from 2 to 2 1/2 per cent, not enough to affect market quotations. He also asserted his belief that review of the New York concentration of cotton would show it to be properly graded, without an unreasonable percentage of error.

Incidentally, the committee was informed that a letter from W. L. Clayton of the firm of Anderson, Clayton & Co., owners of a part of the New York cotton under dispute, that review of the 100,000 bales was owned by the United States cotton futures act.

"If any bales among this 100,000 which as a result of reexamination are found to be outside of the provisions of the United States cotton futures act, those bales will remain in our hands as rejections, and the loss will be ours," the letter said.

Clayton deplored "unwarranted or unfounded suspicions as to the quality of cotton officially certified by the United States" as tending to have an injurious effect on the industry and the market.

"I think any question which has been raised should be set at rest and wish to do all in my power to that end," he said.

SPEED TRAP TRIAL BRINGS OUT STORY OF MISSING MONEY

Miss Montebaro Had
$60 That Is Unaccounted for, Declares Witness Against Officer.

Columbianna, Ala., March 9.—(AP)—A sum of money said to have been missing from the purse of Miss Louise Montebaro after she was mysteriously shot to death the night of November 14 last held attention at today's session of the trial of Police Chief H. E. Blake, of Calera, Ala., charged with the murder of the girl.

J. W. Fourth, district manager of a sewing machine company which is suing Miss Montebaro as a saleslady, testified she had drawn $60 in commissions the day of her death. He said he saw her place it in her purse shortly before she left for Birmingham on the ride that ended in her death.

Relatives of the girl previously testified this money was missing when they claimed her body the next day. The alleged absence of powder burns around the bullet wound in the girl's neck and evidence that there was no whisky on her breath, also was offered in testimony by state witnesses.

Three employees of a Birmingham mortuary testified they noticed no powder burns around the wound and Claude Braxton, of Calera, said he did not notice the odor of whisky when he helped Blake and Officer W. D. Farmer, jointly accused with Blake, carry the girl into a physician's office in Calera.

Blake contends the girl threw a bottle from her automobile while he and Farmer pursued her along the Montgomery highway and died from self-inflicted wound after they arrested her for speeding.

The state seeks to show that the bullet which killed the girl was fired from a pistol held too far away to inflict powder burns.

Court was expected to be adjourned late today until Tuesday morning to allow Chief Defense Attorney E. L. Tamm to make a statement to the state board of education in Montgomery Monday.

Killer Fails To Beat Noose With Suicide

Louisiana Murderer Hangs
After Woeful Death With Poison Dose.

Deridder, La., March 9.—(AP)—Joe Genna's desperate effort last night to die by his own hand through taking poison rather than go to the gallows, for murder advised him nothing, for today at 12:54 p. m. he mounted the scaffold in the Beauregard parish jail and was dead five minutes later of a broken neck.

The death of Genna preceded that of Molton Brasseaux, his convicted comrade in the murder of J. J. Brevelle, Deridder taxicab driver. Relatives claimed both bodies.

Genna, pale and haggard and apparently deathly ill from the effects of the several poison tablets he swallowed in his cell last night, required the assistance of deputy sheriffs to walk from his cell to the death chamber. The deputies supported him while he stood to make his statement of repentance and express willingness to die. Today he repented for having attempted to take his life.

Brasseaux walked alone but between two officers to the scaffold. He also expressed repentance and his readiness to die.

In New Orleans, Matt Seminary, who was to hang today in the Orleans parish prison for the murder of Lillian Doyle and Ralph Sundry, for whose affections he had been "jilted" by the girl, was grateful to Governor O. H. Simpson for a midnight reprieve to allow the state board of pardons to review his case.

HEAVY SNOW STORM SWEEPS FROM WEST TOWARD ATLANTIC

New York, March 9.—(AP)—A storm swirling out of the middle west; east snow over large sections of the east today, as far south as Maryland and north into Canada. In Detroit it brought an endurance flight to a premature conclusion.

The snow fell all day and was predicted to continue through the night unless a shifting wind and a warmer temperature should change it to rain. It was New York's third snowstorm of the year and gave no evidence of being more severe than its predecessors. The flakes fell thick all day but at dusk they had made no headway against the warmth of the day. The Great Lakes were whipped into huge waves by a southeast wind and at Toronto the combers scaled the beach and poured over gardens and into the cellars of waterfront homes.

Mother Fined $100 For Punishing Child

LION TAMER WHIPPED DAUGHTER TOO HARD

Kansas City, Kan., March 9.—(AP)—Holding that a spanking administered Lorene Jones, 10, by her mother, Mrs. Christine Woodside, was "unwarrantedly severe," Judge Fred R. White tonight imposed a fine of $100 and costs on the mother, who had been arrested on the girl's complaint.

Lorene was whipped Sunday night with a coat hanger when she refused to tell where she had been in the family motor car.

Upon hearing the judge's decision Mrs. Woodside, former snake charmer and lion tamer for a carnival, declared she was unable to pay the fine and, if necessary, would have to go to jail.

Approximately 5,000 persons jammed the auditorium in the city hall, to where the hearing had been transferred because Judge White's courtroom was too small to accommodate the jam. Several women fainted. Women predominated in the crowd. Hundreds of persons were turned away at the doors and traffic in the vicinity of the building was in a snarl.

In a statement from the bench just before he fined Mrs. Woodside, Judge White said he believed from the girl's statement and her mother's attitude that the punishment inflicted had been entirely too severe.

"Parents always have a right to punish their children," said the judge, "but they have no right to be brutal."

George H. Carswell, of Irwinton, veteran legislative leader and prominent state political figure, was appointed secretary of state of Georgia Friday night by Governor L. G. Hardman to succeed the late Secretary S. G. McLendon. It was announced by Governor Hardman. Mr. Carswell has accepted the post and will be sworn in today.

For many years Mr. Carswell has served in the Georgia legislature, both the house and senate. He was president of the state senate for one term and in the house he held many important committee posts. He also has served as a member of the boards of trustees of important state institutions.

In the last campaign for governor Mr. Carswell was one of four candidates and when a second primary was necessary to decide the race between John N. Holder and Governor Hardman, Mr. Carswell threw his strength to Hardman and also took the stump to speak in behalf of the present governor.

Mr. Carswell also has taken a leading part in the activities of the democratic party in Georgia, having served in important posts on the state democratic executive committee, in the state convention and at national conventions.

As president of the state senate Mr. Carswell made an excellent record and sponsored some of the most important legislation passed by the general assembly during his administration as president. He won a reputation.

150 PASSENGERS PLACED IN PERIL AS BOAT GROUNDS

Manomet Mass., March 9.—(AP)—The Boston-New York steamer Robert E. Lee, with a passenger list of 150, was breaking up tonight on Mary Ann rock, off Manomet point, while a raging surf held off rescue attempts from the landward side. In the southwest gale that piled up a heavy sea in Massachusetts bay, the vessel appeared to watchers from the shore to be doomed.

The position of the vessel is a difficult and dangerous one for rescue craft, coast guardsmen here said, because of sunken reefs which abound nearby.

Hearing Postponed On New Trial Plea Of Carl Lancaster

At request of defense and prosecuting attorneys, the hearing on an application for new trial, filed in behalf of Carl Lancaster Thursday, has been postponed a second time by Judge E. F. Thomas, of Fulton superior court. Judge Thomas reset the hearing for March 24.

Lancaster was convicted and sentenced to serve 10 to 20 years for an attack on a young woman employee. The hearing was postponed Friday on the ground that both sides needed additional time to study the recently completed court record.

DEMOCRATIC BODY MEETS MARCH 17

The Georgia democratic executive committee Friday was called to meet in Macon March 17 to confer with United States Senator Walter F. George in the selection of this state's 23 delegates to the national democratic convention to be held in Houston June 20. G. E. Maddox, of Rome, chairman of the state committee, announced Friday.

Formal call for the meeting of the committee to be held at the Dempsey hotel at 11 o'clock Saturday morning, March 17, was issued Friday by Chairman Maddox after he had held a conference with Mrs. Bessie Anderson, secretary of the committee.

This meeting will be held in conformity to a request made by Senator George to Chairman Maddox. In this request Senator George said he was not endeavoring to shirk the responsibility of naming the delegates under the resolution of the state committee, but said he wanted the committee members to meet and suggest delegates and alternates.

"The Macon meeting is held in strict conformity to the desire of Senator George in the matter," Mr. Maddox said. "At the February committee meeting it was voted to authorize Senator George to name the delegates after the committee had voted unanimously for Senator George as the choice of the democrats of Georgia for the nomination for the presidency.

Senator George has stated that he will be present at the conference and it is expected he will make a speech in which he will sound the keynote of his campaign for the democratic nomination for the presidency.

SAN JOSE MISSION TOWER COLLAPSES AT SAN ANTONIO

San Antonio, Texas, May 9.—(AP)—The famous tower of San Jose mission here, supposed to have been built in 1730 by Franciscan friars, collapsed last night.

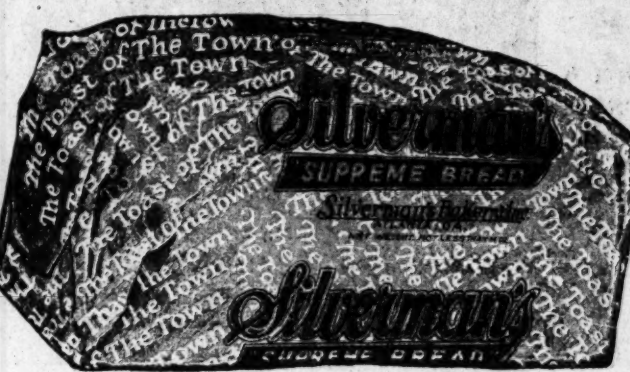

The mission has been a ruin for years, the excavations of treasure hunters having undermined its walls. The tower and a small chapel were the only portions intact. One of the chief features of the tower was a spiral stairway which had been hewn from one large tree trunk.

FRENCH POLICE WATCH PRINCE CAROL IN NICE

Nice, France, March 9.—Police here are keeping watch on former Crown Prince Carol, of Rumania, because of the presence of Mihail Manoilescu, who was recently acquitted in Bucharest of conspiring to return Carol to the Rumanian throne.

Manoilescu, Carol and other prominent Rumanians are staying at the same hotel and there are hints of a Carolist plot. "Something might break within ten days," the former prince's followers are rumored to have said, while Carol keeps his counsel.

LOSES $100,000 TO BUNCO GANG

Miami, Fla., March 9.—(AP)—The ancient horse race wire tapping swindle game, not even newly trimmed, worked well enough to separate Antonio Nitti, of Brooklyn, from $100,000, he reported to police today.

Nitti could not even locate the house where he said he was victimized, but declared it was in Coral Gables. Police spent a good portion of the day driving him over the city looking for it.

The scheme was put into operation, Nitti said, within a week after he arrived here January 20, for the winter season. A venerable appearing man of 68 whom Nitti said he met "accidentally" while strolling in the park, served as advance agent. Two other men and women were parties to the swindle.

After the "unbeatable game" was outlined to him, Nitti related, he went back home and returned with the $100,000, turning it over to the three men in cash.

He was told, he said, that the play had been successful, and trusting he would board a train for Denver, where they told him he would have to go to collect.

Dr. Rongetti is the first physician in Illinois to be sentenced to death for such a murder and is the first person from Chicago to be sentenced to death in the electric chair under the new law substituting electrocution for hanging.

He was convicted of causing the death of Miss Loretta Enders, 19 years old.

The Elephant Never Dies!

There's an interesting legend among savages that elephants never die, and the huge beasts are looked upon with awe.

In this enlightened land, however, no one fears the elephant. In fact, he's the most popular animal in this section of the country since The Constitution announced its famous Triple Elephant Game—one which offers a list of $4,000 in cash prizes to winners.

First prize is $1,500, and the amounts continue in big sums on down the entire list. Many energetic persons are in the contest determined to win. Why not capture a big cash award yourself? You could do many things with $1,500.

If this issue appears a big ad setting forth the simple rules of the interesting and instructive game. Turn to it—and pitch in with the rest of the family tonight to win.

N. Y. CAPITALIST IS SERIOUSLY ILL IN NICE HOSPITAL

Nice, France, March 9.—(AP)—Although the immediate alarm over the condition of Howard Gould, New York capitalist, who is seriously ill at the Montebon hospital, was dispelled by the doctor's bulletin of today stating that he was "comfortable," the gravity of his case was not minimized. Frank Jay Gould, his brother, is close at hand at Cannes. The patient was reported as showing improvement since the operation performed yesterday at the fifth annual meeting of the Southern Student conference on international relations today.

Dr. Gossnell, speaking on "the attitude of the United States towards compulsory arbitration," declared it was difficult for a nation to distinguish between a legal and a political question. "Whether a question is political or legal depends on the circumstances under which it arises," he said. "As has been remarked it depends on whether the parties are willing to accept a settlement by law. If the are, the question is a legal one, if they are not, the question is a political one."

The United States senate has defeated many excellent treaties because of fear that cases to come up under the treaty would affect the interests of the United States in the opinion of Dr. Gossnell. The treaty of 1897 with Great Britain and the treaty of 1911 with the same nation were examples, he cited.

15 NEGROES ESCAPE FROM TENNESSEE JAIL

Trenton, Tenn., March 9.—(AP)—Fifteen negroes escaped from the Gibson county jail here yesterday afternoon during a heavy rainstorm. The prisoners tore away a piece of iron sheeting used to cover a hole in the jail yard wall, and made their way into the almost deserted streets. Three other negro prisoners did not attempt to get away.

Atlanta's Skies To Brighten-Up For Week-End

Real excursion weather will prevail over Atlanta this week-end, C. F. von Herrmann, United States meteorologist, said Friday. Today will be fair and cooler, the fair skies lasting until Sunday morning when they will begin to cloud up a bit, the weather man said.

Temperatures today will range from 42 to 54, as compared with the 52 to 60 of Friday, Mr. von Herrmann said. The rains stopped Friday morning after a downfall of .85 inch since Thursday afternoon.

U. S. CHARY TO ENTER PACTS, SAYS EMORYITE

Anderson, S. C., March 9.—(AP)—The United States has always been reluctant to enter into any treaty providing for compulsory arbitration until they know the exact nature of the differences to be arbitrated, declared Dr. Cullen B. Gossnell, professor of history at Emory university, at the fifth annual meeting of the Southern Student conference on international relations today.

Dr. Gossnell, speaking on "the attitude of the United States towards compulsory arbitration," declared it was difficult for a nation to distinguish between a legal and a political question. "Whether a question is political or legal depends on the circumstances under which it arises," he said. "As has been remarked it depends on whether the parties are willing to accept a settlement by law. If the are, the question is a legal one, if they are not, the question is a political one."

The United States senate has defeated many excellent treaties because of fear that cases to come up under the treaty would affect the interests of the United States in the opinion of Dr. Gossnell. The treaty of 1897 with Great Britain and the treaty of 1911 with the same nation were examples, he cited.

WOMAN AVIATOR PLANS NEW STUNT CARRYING AIL MAIL

Philadelphia, March 9.—(AP)—Taking a seaplane with her, Miss Mildred Johnson, of Manda, Pa., planned to sail from New York today for Bremen on the steamship Columbus in an effort to demonstrate the feasibility of the ship-to-shore carrying of mail by the air route.

Miss Johnson, who is known as the "Apostle of the Air Mail," expects to take off from the ship in the seaplane either 600 or 1,200 miles from Bremen and land the vessel to port by one and a half to three days. She will be accompanied by Mrs. Esther Warner, Portland, Ore., and Lieutenant Hagan, former German aviator, who will act as pilot.

COLLISION SINKS STEAMER IN RIVER

New Orleans, March 9.—(AP)—The steamship Hermes, under charter to the Munson line, was resting on the Mississippi river bed at Concession Point, 32 miles below New Orleans today after a collision last night with the Swedish steamer, Modem.

The Modem, badly damaged, outbound at the time of the collision, limped back into port for repairs shortly before noon today.

All members of the Hermes' crew of 25 and her two passengers took to her one remaining lifeboat and were taken aboard the Modem. None was injured. After remaining aboard the Modem until shortly after daybreak, they were sent to New Orleans in automobiles.

Neither ship was equipped with wireless and the first indication of the collision came with the call for cars from Concession Point.

Three men, including River Pilot Sarelli, were on the Hermes' bridge at the time of the impact. A dense fog had settled over the river and they were unable to see as they proceeded cautiously upstream to port. Suddenly the lights of the Modem appeared a few feet away and they had only time for a single blast of their siren before the crash came.

The Modem struck the Hermes amidships as she swung to the east bank of the river, the pilot said. She rolled to the starboard and then back and began settling to the bottom.

UNVEILING PLANS TO BE DISCUSSED AT OLD GUARD MEET

The perfection of plans for the part the Old Guard will take in the unveiling of General Robert E. Lee and "Traveler" on Stone Mountain, April 5, will be subject of a special meeting of the organization called at 6:30 o'clock Tuesday night at the Atlanta Athletic club by Colonel W. M. Camp, commander.

At the request of the Stone Mountain Memorial association, the Old Guard will act as military host of the occasion. All members of the Old Guard, active, honorary and associate, are requested to attend the dinner. News was received in Atlanta Friday that Mayor James J. Walker, of New York, had accepted an invitation to make the principal address at the Lee exercises.

MARCHMAN FINED $300 FOR LIQUOR VIOLATION

Pleading guilty to his alleged second offense against the prohibition law, J. H. Sibley deferred execution of the sentence for 60 days on condition Marchman post $300 bond.

BECK MEDAL AWARDED SCOUT JEPHTHA WYATT

In recognition of his quick action in saving Mrs. R. H. North, 435 Robinson avenue, from serious injury when she fell against a hot stove February 20, Scout Jephtha Wyatt, of Troop 64, of the same address, was awarded the Beck medal Thursday by the Atlanta court of honor.

JEPHTHA WYATT

Mrs. North, who is paralyzed, fell against the hot stove when there was no one else in the room except Miss Mae Wyatt, sister of Scout Wyatt. Hearing Miss Wyatt's screams, the scout rushed into the room and found Mrs. North lying against the stove with her hands against it. He pulled her away from the stove, and remembering his scout training for first aid, put wet soda on her hands and bandaged them.

Scout Wyatt is 15 years of age. He is a second-class scout and has been a member of the organization for about one year.

The Beck medal is awarded from a fund established some time ago by Lewis H. Beck, of Atlanta, and is given to scouts who, in the opinion of the Atlanta Court of Honor, have performed outstanding good turns, involving quick thinking, courage and initiative.

S. CAROLINA MILLS IN TWO MERGERS

Charlotte, N. C., March 9.—(AP)—With the Flint Spinning mill merger plan proceeding without delay, announcement, interest in consolidation of strings of textile mills in the Piedmont Carolinas has been revived during the last 36 hours by announcement of two proposed consolidations with a combined capital of $14,500,000.

Reports of other possible consolidations could not be verified. The formation yesterday of the $9,500,000 Brandon, Inc., to take over and operate four mills, of which August W. Smith, of Greenville, is president, was followed closely today by announcement by James P. Gossett, of Charlotte, that preliminary steps had been taken looking to consolidation of five mills under his control. The two strings will control 281,570 spindles and 5,800 looms besides finishing and weaving plants.

All of the mills involved in the two latest mergers are located in South Carolina. The Brandon, Inc., units belong to the Brandon mills and the Woodruff mills at Woodruff, S. C., with the Reuford mill at Travelers Rest, S. C., to be added as soon as it is completed. This consolidation is subject to approval of the stockholders. The Gossett mills are the Riverside Manufacturing company, the Toxaway mills, the Landless mill and the Gossett Dyeing & Finishing Co. at Anderson and the Williamson mills at Wilkesboro, N. C.

The Brandon units at present include 167,000 spindles and 3,912 looms and the Gossett interests 114,570 spindles and 1,888 looms.

The discussion was precipitated by the nonconformance of Arthur K. Rempel, editor of The Fort Wayne News-Sentinel and a member of the resolutions committee. Oscar G. Foellmer, publisher of The Fort Wayne News-Sentinel, is manager of Hoover's Indiana campaign.

Forced Into Prison Cell by Want, Girl Seeks Home in Atlanta

Forced by the scarcity of work to spend Friday night in a prison cell, accepted as a last resort to keep from sleeping in the street, an attractive 22-year-old miss is seeking a nice home in Atlanta where she can live and do housework until times become more prosperous.

Miss Flora Boughter Friday night applied to police officers at the city station and asked that she be allowed to stay all night in the women's ward. She said that she was an orphan and had removed here from Florida two years ago. She has been unable to find employment for the past several weeks.

She has excellent references from Atlanta ministers and all she wants is just a nice home where she can earn her board, she explains.

To Make Sturdy Bodies and Rosy Cheeks—

Shake Up Health!

GROWING CHILDREN need three things in abundance—lime to make strong, firmly-knit bone and sound, flashing teeth; iron to make rich red blood and vitamins A, B and C to build muscle and nerve tissue.

But kiddies are full of likes and dislikes. Often the foods most essential to their growth and health they refuse. And over their heads Nature hangs these mournful signs—"Underweight," "Anemic" or "Soft-bodied."

Here is the new-day and delicious way to introduce the "three essentials" into the child's diet—serve Loft Chocolate Flavor Sweetened Malted Milk! Take three teaspoonfuls per glass of milk—add just enough hot water to make a paste—then mix with milk—shake—and serve hot or cold to a child—and you give it the most nutritious "liquid food" Nature or Man can supply.

Don't confuse this drink with the chocolate-powdered concoctions on the market. Loft Chocolate Flavor Sweetened Malted Milk is made with pure malted milk—not skimmed milk, which you know is robbed of its precious butter fats in which are hidden vitamins A, B and C.

And as for deliciousness—just recall your own soda fountain recollections! What childish palate would say

"No" to that exquisite taste! FREE SHAKER—To Start the Child Right!

For your child's sake, begin serving this incomparable health drink immediately. Note how the cheeks fill out—how they bloom—how much more energy, life and vivacity in the child. For this delicious drink is literally filled with health magic.

Home Town Pays Tribute To Eliza Frances Andrews

"MISS FANNIE" FETED AT WASHINGTON, GA.

BY BOYCE FICKLIN, JR.
Washington, Ga., March 9.—(Special.)—With Washington streets aflame with flags waving their affectionate welcome, the townspeople turned out en masse today to pay loving honor to one of Wilkes county's distinguished daughters—Miss Eliza Frances Andrews, internationally known scientist, author and educator, on the occasion of her homecoming.

Although more than 80 years old, "Miss Fannie," as she is still known to scores of Washington men and women who were her former pupils, made the trip from Rome, Ga., by motor and entered into the full day's program in her honor with a spirit and zest which was surprising to those many years her junior.

She was guest of honor on the occasion of impressive ceremonies attending the planting of an oak tree in the campus of the public schools of Washington, dedicated to her, whose scientific and literary attainments have shed luster on the home of her birth as well as upon her state and the nation.

The occasion was sponsored by the woman's club of Washington, of which Mrs. Harry Moore is president, and was participated in by all the civic and historic clubs of the city. The High School auditorium was packed with citizens from town and county and many out-of-town visitors and with school children who were given a half holiday in order to attend the exercises.

The clubwomen had made attractive the school stage. A large flag of Georgia was the background, and flanked with huge baskets of flowers and with Confederate and United States flags attractively arranged. Certainly no one more strikingly typified the blending of the old south with the new than did Miss Andrews during the celebration.

Miss Andrews was one of the first women to blaze the way for the participation of women in the diversified activities of life which, in her early years, was the undisputed domain of men. In her first book, written when she was 16 years old, "Emancipation of womanhood" was her theme. Her "War-time Chronicles of a Georgia Girl" attracted wide attention for its style and literary merit. She found time for much writing both in poetry and prose. Even while engaged in the work which had always been closest to her heart—the science of botany—and which has established her name throughout the world as an authority therein.

In 1925 Miss Andrews was elected to membership in the International Academy of Literature and Science at Naples, Italy—the only woman in America ever accorded this high honor. Four other outstanding American citizens named at the same time with Miss Andrews were Woodrow Wilson, Thomas A. Edison, Nicholas Murray Butler and E. E. Brown, of New York.

Following the tree-planting exercises Miss Andrews made a short talk expressing her deep appreciation. The guests of honor with her party were later entertained at luncheon in the Woman's club rooms at which covers were laid for 75. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Andrews, of Chattanooga; Mrs. Dudley Harmon, of Boston; Mrs. Dempie Adams, of Seneca, S. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Andrews, of Chattanooga; Mrs. E. M. Hill, of Newnan; Judge Alex. W. Stephens, of Atlanta; Mrs. Samuel G. Hutchins, of Chattanooga; Mrs. M. R. Binn, of Greensboro, and Major Archie T. Collier, of Athens.

Life intolerable, prominent Jesup woman kills self.

Jesup, Ga., March 9.—(Special.)—Mrs. L. A. Lane, 28, member of one of Wayne county's most prominent families, is dead a victim of a 28 caliber shot which she used to end her life yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Lane had no one explaining her motive, but on the operating table while an emergency operation was being performed she said: "I have stood about all of life that I can."

Members of her family said she had been suffering from despondency for the past several weeks, although they did not realize her condition was of sufficient cause to prompt her to resort to such a desperate measure.

The young woman shot herself twice in her attempt to end her life. The first bullet passed through her breast. The second was just below her heart and resulted in her death.

Mrs. Lane was the daughter of the late H. W. Harris, reputed to be Wayne county's wealthiest farmer. She is survived by her husband, a son, two daughters, her mother, two brothers, Dr. W. G. Harris, of Jacksonville, and Oscar Harris, of Odum; a sister, Mrs. Ernest Davis, of Mesquite.

Funeral services will be held here tomorrow. Interment will be in Big Creek cemetery.

Harper, who defeated M. J. Bruce for superintendent of county schools, and T. S. Lockett, who was named to succeed E. E. Lee as treasurer.

BOYER HEIR LEGAL STATUS IS FIXED

DETROIT, March 9.—(Special.)—Four-year-old Dede Alfred Boyer today not only had a legal name and a legal mother, but also a legal home, his heritage of fortune, however, remained in doubt.

The erstwhile "millionaire grandson" of Joseph A. Boyer, chairman of the board of the Bufiledges Adding Machine company, became a legal resident of the United States when Mrs. Myron L. Boyer, estranged wife of the son of Joseph A. Boyer, obtained a visa from the American consul at Windsor, Ont., permitting his legal entry into this country.

This action followed adoption of the child yesterday by Mrs. Boyer, who had falsely represented him to her husband as their son, and changing his name from "Joseph A. Boyer, Jr." to "Dede Alfred Boyer." The child's real mother is a Canadian girl. He was obtained from her in infancy by Mrs. Boyer.

The status of the child, thrown into a legal tangle recently when it became known he was not the son of Myron L. Boyer, now has been cleared up except for his inheritance of fortune.

A suit disclaiming and disavowing him, filed by Myron L. Boyer, is pending in court.

Mrs. Boyer, however, says her son's inheritance "doesn't matter. I shall keep him," she said.

The name of "Dede" was chosen by Mrs. Boyer for the child, she said, because it was his name for himself before he could say Joseph plainly.

"I am happier than I have been for four years for worry," Mrs. Boyer said. "I want to forget what has happened and look to the future for my boy, for his future is my life."

POLICE STOP TREK OF 300 HOMELESS MEN IN DENMARK

Veile, Jutland, Denmark, March 9.—(Special.)—The trek of 300 homeless men who started from Kjellerup for Copenhagen seeking work on money which they had emigrated, ended here today under pressure of the police.

The marchers were dispersed to the points whence they came but were not allowed trains for the return journey.

Leaders of the men talked about calling a meeting just outside the limits of Copenhagen March 20. A delegation of communists which came here to join the "army of the homeless" were met by police who prevented them from getting into contact with the marchers.

DATE SET FOR ROME CHAMBER CAMPAIGN

Two Chicago Robberies Nets Thieves $48,100 In Negotiable Bonds

4 Pilots Meet Death.
Athens, Greece, March 9.—(Special.)—Aviation accidents in Greece yesterday took four lives. Two men were killed while flying at Thessalon and two in Macedonia.

Police Nab Men For Questioning In Mystery Case

Jacksonville, Fla., March 9.—(Special.)—George Perkins, 24, and P. O. Forbes, 25, Jacksonville, today were taken into custody by police in connection with the finding of the dead body of a man believed to be Hadley L. Stralman, 25, in the Nassau river ten miles from Fernandina last Tuesday.

The pair, residents of the apartment house in which Stralman formerly lived, were taken for questioning after the almost positive identification of the body as that of Stralman, established by Stralman's wife.

The body, buried by the river bank near where it was found, "a 12 disinterred for further identification."

Stralman is believed by police to have been slain in Jacksonville as the result of liquor trouble, and thrown into the river north of here. He had been in court, police said, on liquor charges. Perkins and Forbes also were known to the police as having handled liquor.

Stralman, residents of the apartment house said, left here about 18 days ago following a free-for-all fight in the house. His wife last heard of him at about that time.

Coral Gables, Fla., March 9.—(Special.)—There is nothing official present at Al Capone, Chicago, from becoming a member of the American Legion, officials of the local post said today, in commenting on reports that the gang chief planned to apply for membership.

This comment was made after reports were received from Chicago that Capone had never been convicted of a felony.

Yates said he spoke for a majority of the post members.

COURTS TO DECIDE LAKE CARGO CASE

WASHINGTON, March 9.—(Special.)—A decision to appeal to the courts against the latest decision of the interstate commerce commission touching lake cargo coal rates was reached here today by a gathering of principal mine operators located in territory south of the Ohio and Potomac rivers.

Simultaneously endeavor was made to get the chief railroads in the southern coal area to join with the mine owners in the appeal, Governor Gore, of West Virginia, having taken the plea of the operators into a separate conference of executive officials of the Chesapeake & Ohio, Norfolk & Western and Louisville & Nashville railroads.

While the coal operators and rail officials were engaged in their discussion, the lake cargo case was again brought into congressional controversy, Senator Neely, democrat, West Virginia, giving notice of his intention to introduce a resolution to direct the commission to explain its attitude toward present senate discussion of its coal rate decision.

Members May Resist.
Senator Neely asserted that reports were published to the effect that members of the commission contemplated resigning because their votes on lake cargo rates had been brought into question during the continuing senate conflict over the confirmation of Commissioner Esch's reappointment.

WOMAN AVIATORS OF BRITAIN FLY IN LONELY RACE

LONDON, March 9.—(United News.)—Great Britain's two most famous aviatrixes are engaged in an 8,000-mile race for supreme honors. Each is flying alone.

Lady Heath, formerly Mrs. Elliott Lunn, is flying from Cape Town to London in a light plane. The pair may meet in mid-Africa.

Lady Bailey recently was chosen the world's champion woman aviator. Lady Heath is regarded as the next best British aviatrix.

If either completes the trip, she will establish a new woman's record for long distance flying.

Tech High Enters Semi-Finals; U. S. B. Loses to Perry

Smithies Win Over Central High, 33 to 32

Atlanta Entry Stages Great Battle To Turn Back Chattanooga Cagers.

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 9.—Atlanta's Tech High Smithies turned back a powerful last-minute thrust here tonight to defeat Central High of Chattanooga, 33 to 32, and win their way into the semi-final round of the Dixie interscholastic basketball tournament. They will meet Daisy High tomorrow afternoon in the semi-finals and, if they win, will meet the survivor of a game between Bradley High and City High for the championship tomorrow night.

In turning back the Purple Warriors of Central High tonight the Smithies eliminated Chattanooga's most powerful team, a team which has defeated Lanier High, Columbus (Ga.) High, Daisy High and other strong prep teams in the south.

Comes Back.
After lingering behind in the scoring through the first half, Central staged a gallant burst of scoring in the third quarter and counted 11 points against six for the Smithies within the eight-minute period. The third quarter ended with Tech ahead, 28 to 26. Central then carried its phenomenal scoring streak over into the last quarter and succeeded in tying the score at 30-30 with but three minutes of playing time remaining.

Into the last three minutes there was packed enough brilliant basketball and enough heart-stirring fighting to turn the 1,500 fans into whooping minnows. Both teams played without their defensive axes, Tech without Heavy Hammond and Central without Carl Hammond. The tempo up and down the floor turned into a better-skilled session of wild shooting. Rat Terrell scored a crisp and then White made good with a foul shot to give the Smithies a three-point lead. Two points were lopped off the Tech margin when Smith, Central sub forward, dropped in a long goal and then with but half a minute to play, Captain H. Hammond for Central, missed a foul shot which would have tied the count. The gun stopped things with the Smithies clinching to the ball and their single point lead.

HAWKEYE-ING SPORTS

BY DICK HAWKINS

Deciding the Future

There is much twaddle written about "the old spirit of the game," but all is not twaddle that sounds like twaddle. There is such a thing, even in professional sport, as spirit. In the case at hand it might change the word spirit to expediency, for that is what it amounts to.

At almost any soda fountain you will hear much talk of "the old has-beens on the Cracker roster." And some of them ARE old. Also some of them might be classed as "has-beens" because they have been in bigger time and have come down.

There are two kinds of "has-beens." The kind who believe they are suffering from bad breaks and such because they are playing in a class A league after they have been to the majors or double A time. If they harbor that feeling they are quite likely to turn out like Frank Welch did. He was too good to play in this league and just to prove it he didn't play in this league. Good logic, perhaps, but a bit crass in execution.

Jim Poole came to the Crackers a couple of days ago and he came with this declaration: "I can play major league baseball. I have played major league baseball and I can do it again. I'm going to go so good in this league that they'll have to send me up again."

Jim has the right idea if he puts it into practice. He is not the only man on the roster who is in the same fix. On the Spiller roster this there are at least a half dozen men who have been up and are still young enough to go up again if Atlanta goes good this season and they play their parts in the going.

That old axiom about biting off the nose to spite the face always seemed like a rather impractical comparison in so far as its execution is concerned, but the thought is good. It is surprising to find how many ball players will practice the intent of this old axiom. They are peeved because they have sold or traded down so they come a cropper on the club they join in the minors. A very fine example of nose-biting.

Paul Strand is another who has been up and can go again if he makes good here. His attitude is much like that of Poole. His nose is safe from biting. Sherrod Smith is another problem. Whether he could ever go up again is a question. But his athletic makeup is such that he will play his best baseball no matter where he is.

There's Ray Francis. A veteran, though not old. Something has come over Ray since the latter part of last season, when he became disgusted at the empty bats of the Crackers and proceeded to lose several ball games. This season he acts like a coit just turned out to pasture for the first time. He sees great offensive possibilities in the Cracker camp and he also has a vision of going up to the big again. Ray will give his best this year, you may wager on that.

There are others on the roster who would make as good examples to name but space is limited. The attitude of these veterans will decide the future of the Crackers this year and may have a very large bearing on their own future next year and the next.

The SPORTLIGHT

by Grantland Rice

THE LAST OF ALL

"Cowards die many times before their deaths; The valiant never taste of death but once."

—Shakespeare.

Whether it's Heaven, or whether it's Hell, Or whether it's merely Sleep, Or whether it's something in between, Where ghosts of the half-gods creep,

Since it comes but once, and it comes to all, On the one fixed certain date— Why drink of the dregs till the cup arrives On the gray day set by Fate?

We march to the beat of a distant drum And march till the drums beat die, Then it's ghost—or dust—as we roam or dream Where the brave march proudly by.

A valiant heart while the drums beat call, And then, where the dark is deep, Just one brief step to an endless march, Or one to an endless sleep.

One by one, till the line has passed, The gutter-born and the crown-girded, So what is a day—or a year or two— Since the answer's written down?

What is a day to a million years, When the last winds sound their call? So here's to the days that rest between— And here's to the last of all.

An Amount of Shooting.

There are also uncrowned kings. Paddy MacFarland used to be one. And there is Macdonald Smith, the 122 holes a day champion. Two or three years ago Mac Smith played eighteen tournament rounds of golf, at an average of 70-1-2. Two of these were over the Links, and the other two were over the Links. Mac Smith has played in four tournaments, where in the 28th holes involved. So here's to the days that rest between— And here's to the last of all.

It will be interesting to see whether he can keep his dizzy pace against a crack field in the Miami Beach $15,000 party over the La Gorce course next week—and a week later in the Florida open at Jacksonville.

Sharkey and Risko.
Once more a pair of candidates appears with a million target to aim at. If they continue to fire with popguns or blunderbusses, so many other trial candidates have fired, then Gene Tunney may have to shadow box against himself next June, if there is to be a June show.

The way of the heavyweight candidate is strange and weird and wonderful to behold. Jack Delaney says he didn't use his right hand more against Heene because he thought he was winning without it. You might think, a million in sight, a fellow would crowd on him more extra measure—if he had it to crowd.

If Sharkey or Risko don't show a lot more than either has shown so far the prospect for a June entertainment will be complete with rum-pump. And if either wins decisively, said winner must still account for Heene. The Irish-Australian has beaten Risko and tied Sharkey. Neither can laugh that off. The ultimate challenger won't amount to much until he has accounted for the Heene blockade.

The Running Game.
The greatest feature of any big track meet, on to an Olympic test, is the running side. There is one pole vault and one broad jump, etc., on the program. But the running side extends from 100 meters to the marathon.

In this most important part of track competition the United States hasn't won a race longer than 300 meters for twenty years in various Olympic tests.

At the Paris Olympics the United States of America bagged one running race out of eight or ten—the one at 200 meters. The British took over the 100, the 400 and the 800. The Finns, Norri, Bertola and Stenboos, took everything else from 1,200 on.

This isn't much of a running record.

Crackers Keep Frank Chilton, Casey Mills, Johnny Risko

Russell Pence Reports Friday; Johnny Brock May Arrive Today.

BY BEN COTHRAN.
Passers-by on Ponce de Leon avenue around the hour of 12:30 o'clock Friday were treated to the spectacle of a baseball club working right out in public, where everyone could watch. The club was the Atlanta Crackers, who had forsaken the diamond because of heavy rain which fell all Thursday night and a part of Friday morning.

At 11 o'clock it was fair, just as Colonel Spiller had said it would be, but the diamond was in no shape to play on, so the boys grabbed gloves and bats and hurried outside the park to warm up.

Another new Cracker checked in Friday. It was Russell Pence, obtained from the Boston Braves of the Texas League, to whom Cliff Markle was traded. Pence is a right-hander and a big one. He reported in good shape. His record last year was nine games won against 14 lost. He has the reputation, however, of being a good pitcher, and Colonel Spiller is expecting him to deliver the goods.

Arrivals.
More arrivals are expected today or Sunday in the form of Johnny Brock, first string catcher and Frankie Zoeller, outfielder, who is going to be sold shortly according to Mr. Spiller.

Brock is driving through the country and Mr. Spiller isn't looking for him until he gets here. Art Olson, pitcher from last season, is out on the road somewhere, and is expected to arrive any day. That will leave practically everyone in camp.

Friday was a deal for a work-out but "just take a look at that diamond will you?" You can't do anything with it that wet. That's a slightly humorous statement made by Skipper Niehoff Friday as he told his squad to warm up and engage in pepper games.

The sun was bearing down steadily and a brisk wind drying the diamond up rapidly, so it should be in shape for an infield workout today, which Bert had planned for yesterday. A practice game probably will be played the first of the week to be followed by more. Friday and Saturday the Crackers take on Tech in a brace of exhibition games.

Joey.
A new ruling of the Southern league, allowing member clubs to carry two extra players who are under Class A caliber, has brought joy to the hearts of Frank Chilton and Casey Mills, a pair of recruits who have been very pleasing in workouts this week.

Colonel Spiller and the skipper went into a huddle Friday and when it was over announced that the above mentioned young men would be recruited this season as regulars.

Chilton is a lefthander who has recruited from Cedarhurst semi-pro ranks last summer and, with coaching from Sherry Smith, is expected to make the crackers a good pitcher. Mills is an infielder, primarily a shortstop, coming to the Crackers from Savannah. It may be that he will fill a utility role this season. Mills has been seen one way or the other, except that he will be carried as a regular.

Paul Fittery, who was with the Crackers a few seasons ago, was in the stands Friday and renewed his acquaintance with Paul Strand, both of them having been teammates in the majors a few years ago.

ANNUAL TECH CAGEBANQUET HERE TONIGHT
Ten letters will be awarded members of the Tech Athletic Club tonight, it was announced on the Flats Friday. The men making the coveted letters in basketball are Captain Nick George, Frank Player, Ed Harris, Syd Goldin, Hank Heeke, Ralph Bulard, "Long" Waxelbaum, George Oles, Les Adams and "Red" Williamson.

The banquet tonight will be at the Atlanta Athletic Club. Coach Mundorf has invited the members of the freshman team to be present also. Besides the gold "T" which the men will receive for their work during the year, a gold letter will also be awarded.

Next year's captain and alternate-captain will be elected tonight. The squad, not to be confused by the football men, has been going through an extensive spring training in the gym. Many of the men from Bill Fincher's freshman team have been meeting along with the varsity three times a week.

Johnny Risko Likes Tough, Strong Boys

All He Hopes Is That Sharkey Will "Come in and Fight" Monday.

BY ALAN J. GOULD.
Associated Press Sports Editor.
New York, March 9.—(AP)—The tougher and more often they come the better Johnny Risko likes it. That's why the former Cleveland baker boy, now the rough and tumble man of the heavyweight brigade, isn't worried much about his 15-round tussle with Jack Sharkey at Madison Square Garden next Monday night.

"All I hope is he comes in and fights," says Risko. "Take a sock and give two. That's my game, I like to fight."

Sharkey may not choose to meet Risko at the latter's own game, however. The Boston tar has fought Johnny before and like all the other topnotchers who have battled him, Sharkey probably will have a heavy respect for Risko's left hooks and swings.

Swinging.
Johnny is always swinging. He may miss more times than not but the one that connects is likely to leave a jarring impression. There is nothing else about Risko's methods. The baker boy is a "club fighter," a throw-back to the old slam-bang days of the ring when the crowds came out chiefly in the hope that the boys would punch each other good.

"There is no doubt that Johnny likes to fight. His record bears him out. He has fought all of the leading heavyweights of the last few years except Jack Dempsey. It is one of Johnny's few regrets that he has never had a chance to battle the Manassa Mauler. "Dempsey is my style of fighter," says Johnny. "He likes to punch and so do I."

From a man who has otherwise fought only the "club fighters," the question draws a short but pointed answer from the bounding one: "Tunney hits often."

KID LAVIGNE, EX-CHAMP, TAKES COUNT
Detroit, Mich., March 9.—(AP)—George (Kid) Lavigne, 38, former lightweight boxing champion, died at his home here tonight following a brief illness.

Lavigne, known as the "Saginaw Kid," ruled the lightweight ranks in the late nineties, a period when the division boasted what was probably the greatest collection of fighters ever known. He acquired the title in 1903 by reason of recognition as the outstanding challenger for the championship held by Jack McAuliffe. At the time the latter retired, Lavigne held the championship four years. He was defeated in a 20-round bout by Frank Erne, of Buffalo, in 1909. During his career Lavigne defeated Joe Wolcott twice, stopped Dick Durkin, the English middleweight champion; fought two draws with the phantom-like Young Griffo, and beat Jack Everhart.

Lavigne, who never scaled over 130 pounds during his career, fought many of his greatest bouts against heavier opponents such as Birge and Wolcott, the latter a heavy welterweight.

A CRACKER A DAY TO-DAY

FRANK CHILTON, PITCHER.

BY BEN COTHRAN

Ever see this young man before? No? Well, you'll see more and hear more than that about him before the 1934 season is over.

His name is Frank Chilton. He pitches. Effectively. Life for him, as a professional baseball player, began last summer about the middle of August, when Colonel Bell Spiller journeyed up to Cedarhurst, where Chilton was playing semi-pro baseball, and signed the young gentleman, who pitched from the left side.

Colonel Spiller got there just in time, for a scout of the New Orleans club was traveling post-haste to Cedarhurst with a contract in his pocket.

Chilton stepped from the semi-pro into professional baseball, and looked good from the start. He is a chunky, well-built youngster, standing 5 feet 7 1/2 inches and weighing 170 pounds.

A great deal of that 170 pounds is clustered around Chilton's shoulders and upper portion of his arms. He has a quick snapping whip that gets the ball across the plate in a hurry, and it fooled a number of batters last year.

The Spiller management has announced that Chilton will be retained this season as a regular. It was thought at first that he would be farmed out to Macon, but the showing made during the first week of training has so impressed Messrs. Spiller and Niehoff that he will be kept. Bert likes left-handers, anyhow.

Chilton has already acquired the name of "Lefty." He's a quiet youngster—20 years is his age—and doesn't have much to say. But he works hard every minute and is expected to develop rapidly this season. With Sherrod Smith to coach him, keep your eyes on him this year.

FRANK CHILTON.

Chilton should come along in fine style.

"Lefty" was born at Anniston, Ala., on June 7, 1907. He grew up there, and played on the local high-school team. Then he jumped into semi-pro ball and played two years at Cedarhurst before coming to the Crackers.

Attaway Knocks Out Stamaty in Fifth

Stiles Attaway, "Pride of Gainesville, Ga.," holder of the southern middleweight title, successfully defended same from the onslaughts of a chunky, fighting piece of machinery—Pete Stamaty, of New Orleans.

Attaway won his fight by landing a steaming left flush on the jaw of Stamaty just after the fifth round had opened. It traveled hard and it landed fast and when it landed Stamaty went down as though he had been sand-bagged. The bout was scheduled for 10 rounds.

Tough Customer.
But don't think that this fighting Greek from New Orleans was "easy pickings" for Gainesville's Mr. Attaway. Stamaty seemed to be slightly out of condition, and Attaway had a great advantage in reach. Stamaty began working on Attaway's abdomen from the beginning, and he landed several blows that had a damaging effect.

It was a good fight all the way through, with Stamaty getting the best of it in the first two rounds. Once, however, in the third, Attaway brought joy to the hearts of his Gainesville supporters by almost knocking the Orleansian out of the ring. That seemed to help Attaway, and he flailed his arms more effectively and landed harder blows. Then in the fifth came the kayo blow and it was all over.

In an eight round semi-windup, Casey Jones won over Homer Reid, both Atlanta products. This was the only bout of the night to go the full route and it was Jones' fight all the way.

In a four-round opener Jimmy Pruitt, of Atlanta, knocked out Told Haygood, Constitution newsboy, in the second round with a well-aimed right to the jaw.

It was announced from the ring that Pete Cole, of Rome, would meet Battling Smith, of Fort Oglethorpe, in the main bout of a card scheduled for next Friday night.

Ossip Gabrilowitsch Concert Centers Wide Interest Today

Ossip Gabrilowitsch, the aristocrat of the keyboard, will take his place before the grand piano in the Atlanta Woman's club auditorium this afternoon and present Atlanta music lovers the "sum bonum" of artistic performances. As he plays one is less conscious of a recital than a discourse in tone. This master has the enviable ability of relegating ostentation to fine feeling. He never depends upon novelty or sensationalism for his interest. Nothing of pedantry or exaggeration ever breaks the thread of sincerity which links him to his audience at large.

Gabrilowitsch is a believer in good taste. In a recent article on this subject he writes: "Composers, interpreters, listeners—stop and consider! Music was not invented today, nor was it born yesterday. It has had a genesis, a history, a logical development. Taste cannot be acquired in five minutes. It has been bred and reared for centuries. To throw it overboard is an easy matter. But what will you put in its place?"

Anything that requires study, appreciation, taste, is denounced as "high brow." It is surprising then that Beethoven, Schubert and Brahms are being relegated to library shelves as "old fogies" while jazz comes marching on triumphantly to the applause of short-skirted flappers and of self-satisfied Wall street bankers who consider themselves patrons of art.

Came Home Feeling Bilious

MR. JAS. B. VAUGHT,
Waynesburg, Ky.

"I USED* to come home from town, or from a trip, and my head would ache, and I would have a little temperature. My tongue would look brown, and I would have a bad taste in my mouth. That night, I would take a big dose of Black-Draught, and the next morning I would get up feeling so much better. After a few doses, I would be all right, my tongue clean, and a better taste.

"Black-Draught is about all the medicine I use, for it seems to be about all I need. I am healthy and well, and I feel that Black-Draught will keep one that way." — James B. Vaught, Waynesburg, Ky.

Used by All the Family

"WE are steady users of Black-Draught, and have been for about twelve years. It is about all the medicine we have used in our family since we were married. I take Black-Draught for headache, indigestion and stomach trouble.

"If I let myself get constipated, I find soon that my head is dull and aching, and a few doses of Black-Draught will make me feel like new. I wouldn't be without it. My wife uses it also.

"We give it to the children as a laxative for colds and minor ills. My children prefer Black-Draught to any other laxative, especially castor oil." — A. B. Brannon, 908 Oakland Ave., Gaffney, S. C.

Fort McPherson Girl Scout Troop Takes Part in Rally

Fort McPherson, Ga., March 9.—The Bob White troop of the Girl Scouts of Fort McPherson attended the Girl Scout rally held in Atlanta on Thursday afternoon. A "Bookend Program" was arranged and each troop dramatized a scene from some well known book. The Fort McPherson troop gave the scene from "Barney's Inn" and "Peter Pan," when Peter comes to Wendy's house in search of his lost shadow. Florence Stevenson acted the mischief-loving Peter; Jane Casper made "Havly," "Mrs. Darling," May Williams as "Michael," and Polly Weber as "John." Miss Othello Toibette, captain of the troop, and Mrs. Robert Griffith Turner, lieutenant, deserve much credit for the success of the sketch.

The officers' club was the scene of a brilliant gathering Friday evening when the Fort McPherson Officers' club honored General and Mrs. Abraham G. Lott at a hop. The clubrooms were decorated with ferns, evergreens and spring flowers. Dancing was enjoyed until a late hour and refreshments were served. General and Mrs. Lott, who are recent arrivals at the garrison, are delightful acquisitions to the army circles and are the incentives for a number of entertainments both in Atlanta and Fort McPherson.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Sybil Faine entertained at an informal hop-supper preceding the hop Friday evening, the affair being a special commitment to their guest, Miss Edna Hughes, of Florida, Ala.

A color motif of green and yellow predominated in the decorations of early spring flowers. The guests included Lieutenant and Mrs. John Weckler, Lieutenant and Mrs. I. H. Joffe, Lieutenant and Mrs. Robert Foster, Lieutenant and Mrs. Edward McDaniel, Dr. William Clark, of Atlanta, and Miss Hughes. The ladies' riding class met Thursday afternoon at Fort McPherson. Owing to the muddy field the class was held in the post riding hall.

Garden Hills Club Sponsors Clean-Up Week.

Garden Hills Woman's club will sponsor clean-up week and residents of Garden Hills will be requested to plant shrubbery and beautify grounds. A committee consisting of Mrs. Fred Jeter, Mrs. T. C. Cox, Mrs. E. E. Limbaugh, will confer with Philip C. McDuffie, to work out plans for overhauling the swimming pool and the woman's club tearoom. The swimming pool, modeled after that of Columbia university, is said to be the most sanitary that can be made and represents an investment of more than $22,000. It will be open to residents of the north side and a vacuum cleaner has recently been added to the sanitary equipment of the pool.

Mr. McDuffie was special guest at the meeting last Wednesday. Mr. McDuffie spoke most interestingly on his plans for the development of Garden Hills and asked the cooperation of the club in making the subdivision both sanitary and beautiful. A scholarship in the Hazel Roy Butler School of Dance will be awarded by the club. Children residing north of Brookwood station are eligible and are asked to meet Friday at the clubhouse.

Mrs. Nesbit sang a Spanish number, "Carmina," with Mrs. Beasley as accompanist; Mrs. Paul Franke and Mrs. J. A. Knight were members warmly welcomed into the club. The refreshment committee for April will be Mesdames Fred Jeter, chairman, with R. A. Johns, McEwen Keiffer and George Knapp as assistants.

A morning dish of ALL-BRAN prevents constipation

Clear eyes. Fresh complexion. Buoyant spirits. They all come when the right kind of food is eaten. One of the main things that our modern diet lacks is the roughage necessary to prevent constipation, which is the cause of so much ill health.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN will furnish the bulk you need to keep well and fit.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS. LOVE OVERCOMES FEAR.

A mother puts aside all fear When danger threatens those most dear.

—Old Mother Nature.

If ever there was a frightened Wood Mouse that one was little Mrs. Whitefoot when Farmer Brown's Boy pulled her nest out of the beehive. But, frightened as she was, she didn't run until she had all her babies. Such a sight as little Mrs. Whitefoot was as she struggled along over the grass, while her babies clung to her and she carried the fifth.

Farmer Brown's Boy followed her. Now, to little Mrs. Whitefoot Farmer Brown's Boy was simply a terrible giant. You can readily see how it would be so. Never in all her life had she been so close to him. She could have dropped all those babies and run. That would have been a simple thing to do. But such a thought never once entered her head. Little Mrs. Whitefoot. Her babies were helpless and she must protect them. She must get them to a place of safety.

So she struggled on toward the old stone wall. Oh, how far away it seemed! If only she could reach that she would feel safe. She was so intent on watching this great giant following her that she didn't see another danger ahead of her. She didn't see Black Pussy. Black Pussy saw her and Black Pussy's eyes gleamed as she crept close to the ground and began to follow her. She was so intent on what she was doing that she didn't notice Farmer Brown's Boy at all. But Farmer Brown's Boy saw Black Pussy and he saw that she was about to do. With a yell that frightened little Mrs. Whitefoot so that she dropped the baby she was carrying in her mouth, but which also frightened Black Pussy. Farmer Brown's Boy jumped forward. Black Pussy took to her heels. Boy saw a moment little Mrs. Whitefoot forgo the baby she had been carrying. With the four others clinging to her she ran faster than she had been able to run before. Then she remembered the baby she had dropped. She stopped.

REDDING GRANTED CHANGE OF VENUE FROM MERIWETHER

The unusual case where 12 jurors agreed that a defendant was guilty on a first degree murder charge but where one juror made a mistrial of the case because he would not consent to a death sentence came to light Friday in the court of appeals when a petition for a change of venue for Marshall Redding, the defendant in question, was granted by the court.

Redding was tried in Meriwether county last November on a charge of killing W. H. Callaway, chief of police of Manchester, Ga. After the failure of the jury to agree on the death sentence a mistrial was ordered in the case. Attorneys for Marshall then sought a change of venue on the ground that Marshall could not get a fair trial in Meriwether county and that there was danger that he would be a victim of violence if he were acquitted or received any sentence less than a death sentence.

The petition for a change of venue was denied in the lower court but the court of appeals overruled the decision of the lower court and ordered that a change of venue be granted the defendant.

Officers Still Balked in Probe Of Ellis Death

Decatur, Ga., March 9.—(Special.)—The strange loneliness in which she lived for more than two-score years lent itself to shroud the mystery of the death of Miss Mary Ellis, whose body, with three bullet wounds, was found on the floor of her cabin home near Winter Chapel Wednesday.

DeKalb county officers, under the direction of Sheriff J. A. McCurdy, Friday night were no nearer a clue to the murderer of the old woman than they were when her body was discovered.

Only the barest of motives was suggested to investigators during their probe Friday—that of robbery; for, though they found the crude little cabin in order when they first viewed the body, and an untouched small board of gold beneath the mattress of her bed, it was discovered Friday that a pocketbook Miss Ellis was known to have kept about her is missing. Its absence was the only hint of a motive.

The time element of the crime also was a contributor to the maze that obscured possible clues. No one was able to determine when the aged woman was shot. She was last seen Friday a week ago. When her body was found Wednesday afternoon there was a seepage of rainwater in the fireplace, indicating that she had not built a fire last Sunday, on which day it rained.

Meanwhile R. C. Ramspeck, city attorney of Decatur, has been appointed as administrator of the estate of Miss Ellis. Little is known about her or her possessions by neighbors, but it was generally said that she was owner of quite a bit of land in the community.

The victim of the unknown assailant was buried Thursday afternoon in the little church yard at Winter Chapel. Only a small group of neighbors attended the ceremonies, which was simple, in keeping with the life she had led.

The banquet was attended by members of the organizations in uniform, chairman of the various committees of the Yaarab temple, Potentate Tom C. Law, of Atlanta, and members of the divinity school, and members of the divinity school.

Following the banquet the women attended a theater party at Keith's Georgia while a ceremonial was held in the banquet room.

Potentate Dunbar came to Atlanta from Montgomery, Ala. Accompanying her were her daughter, Miss Dunbar, her friend Mrs. Fox, Potentate Walter Suggden, of Oskit temple, Wheeling, W. Va., and Nobles Joseph P. Billups and Joe Woodall, of Yaarab temple of Atlanta, who met him in Montgomery.

He was met at the Terminal station by Potentate Law, Past Potentate Charles A. Bowden and members of the Yaarab temple, who escorted him to the Biltmore hotel.

After luncheon he visited Stone Mountain.

"Atlanta has always been an important Shrine center, and with its $1,000,000 temple projected, it becomes even more so. The temple, which, I understand, will have a seating capacity of 5,500, is one of the largest of its kind ever undertaken in this country."

Harry P. Holmes, released from the Atlanta federal penitentiary after serving 16 months, was rearrested Friday and held by United States Commissioner James E. Brown for removal to Lorain, Ohio, to answer charges of postoffice robbery. Holmes' pending removal was fixed at $1,000.

ALLEGED BANDIT INDICTED BY JURY

Indictments charging assault with intent to murder and robbery were returned by the grand jury Friday against John Worthens, negro, who is said to have shot Dr. Virgil Cook, 582 Jackson street, while holding up a drug store on Jackson street last January 25.

Dr. Cook was standing in the rear of the store when the robber entered. He opened fire, which was returned by the negro, one bullet striking a specifiable case carried by the doctor.

Worthens, police allege, was identified by Dr. Cook following his arrest a week ago.

Worthens, Clyde Culverson and Leonard Mahone are jointly indicted under another count charging that they held up a Rogers grocery store on Capitol avenue, March 3, obtaining $223 from M. Marion, the manager.

A separate indictment against Culverson charges he helped to rob Ed Green, of 486 Fair street, on March 2.

L. C. Smith Held Pending Decision By Federal Court

Aggressive efforts to stay his extradition from Florida resulted Friday in an order to hold Leonard C. Smith, former Atlanta builder, in Fulton tower without bond pending disposal of a habeas corpus writ issued by a Florida federal judge.

After a strenuous legal tilt in Florida, County Police Sergeant W. C. Chapplear returned Smith to Atlanta Friday morning to face an indictment charging larceny after trust and three others alleging false swearing.

Smith was arrested by the chief of police at Tampa about two weeks ago on request of Florida county authorities, and released there under a $1,000 bond.

The defendant secured a habeas corpus order in the Hillsborough county court, dissolved when Chapplear arrived with an executive warrant signed by Florida's governor.

Smith's attorneys applied for a federal habeas corpus, but Sergeant Chapplear had left in an automobile with his prisoner before the writ was signed by Judge William H. Hunt, southern district of Florida.

Took Train at Lakeland.

The Georgia officer and Smith took a train at Lakeland for Jacksonville. On Thursday the sheriff of Duval county served Chapplear with a telegraphic copy of the federal order as he boarded a train for Atlanta.

Since the writ directed that Chapplear produce Smith in the district court at Tampa on March 19, he pocketed the order and proceeded to Georgia with his prisoner.

On Chapplear's request that Smith be held for the contemplated return to Florida, the solicitor's office Friday instructed Sheriff Lowry to hold the prisoner without bond.

In the event the federal writ is disposed of Smith will be allowed to make the $10,000 bond assessed here under the grand jury indictments.

One of these charges that Smith misappropriated $5,160.57 belonging to Miss Catherine Kalkner, of Atlanta, given him to construct a residence here, while the three false swearing counts grew out of alleged perjury in affidavits he signed in applying for loans on three houses in Atlanta.

ATLANTA IS PRAISED BY CHARLES C. GREEN

Charles C. Green, president of the Charles C. Green Advertising Agency, Inc., of New York, who was a visitor here Friday, said that the eyes of the industrial nation have been focused on Georgia and the Carolinas. He left Friday night for Miami, Fla., on a pleasure trip.

"Atlanta has stepped out and attracted favorable attention of the world," Mr. Green said. "Advertising to be successful must have a meritorious article to represent, and the new industries that have been attracted here indicate the quality of the city."

Bus Conductor Makes Boss Pay Cash for Ride

Savannah, Ga., March 9.—(AP)—A railroad president may ride passes on a Pullman, but on a bus line run by the road he is just one of the "cash customers," and must pay his fare accordingly.

Such, at least, was the recent decree of a conductor on the Central Georgia railway's new bus line operating between Fort Valley and Perry, when President J. J. Peley and other high officials of the road sought to settle their fare with the customary passes used by railroad officials.

Though the eminent passengers were armed with passes entitling them to transportation from Brooklyn to the Golden Gate, and clothed with the privilege of riding about in private cars, they were told that on the bus they would have to pay like anyone else, which they did—must to the amusement of the officials, who returned to Savannah telling the joke on themselves.

DISTRICT ROTARY OFFICER TO VISIT AT CARTERSVILLE

Cartersville, March 9.—Bert Arnold, of Jacksonville, Fla., governor of the thirty-ninth district of Rotary International, will make an official visit to the Cartersville Rotary club next Wednesday, he has informed President Donald C. Hancock, of the local organization. His itinerary calls for a visit to the Atlanta club next Tuesday, Cartersville Wednesday, Rome Thursday and Marietta Friday.

Punctuality!

Waycross, Ga., March 9.—During February the Waycross division of the Atlantic Coast L. & N. railroad made the wonderful record of running all of its passenger trains on schedule time with the exception of two. This gave a maintenance schedule percentage of 99.8 per cent.

The remarkableness of this record is seen when it is added that the number of trains operated was 902, with 900 of these not being a second late.

SYNOPSIS
 Esther Howe, a young nurse, having accompanied an invalid from the United States to Cannes on the Riviera, is about to return to New York when she sees an advertisement in the paper for a nurse and decides to apply for the job in order to spend a little time in Cannes.
 While waiting for an answer to her application to Dr. Sartorius, Esther treats herself to tea at the fashionable Restaurant des Ambassadeurs. She becomes interested in the conversation of a beautiful French woman and her escort, an Englishman, who sit at the next table. On returning to her hotel, Esther finds a note from the doctor asking her to report in the morning.
 The beautiful French woman of the restaurant comes to see Dr. Sartorius and Esther learns that she is Lady Clifford, the wife of Sir Charles Clifford, who is stricken with typhoid fever and Dr. Sartorius gives up his practice and laboratory work to devote himself exclusively to Sir Charles. Esther is taken on the day mission.
 Roger Clifford, Sir Charles' only son, arrives in Cannes. Sir Charles tells his son that he has changed his will to the extent of making his executor and trustee of the whole estate. Roger is attracted to Esther and invites her to dine and dance with him. They go to one of the fashionable restaurants in Cannes.
 On returning to the house Rogers came upon his stepmother in the darkened drawing room with Arthur Holiday, who has been paying Lady Clifford some attention. Roger orders Holiday to leave the house.
 The next day Sir Charles breaks the news to his wife that he has named his son executor of his estate in his will. Lady Clifford flies into a rage.
 Roger takes Esther out for a ride in his car and almost runs down a pedestrian. While estate. Roger is attracted to Esther and invites her to dine and dance with him. Roger orders Holiday to leave the house.

 Roger takes Esther out for a ride in his car and almost runs down a pedestrian.

INSTALLMENT XXXVI. NONSENSE.

From the depths of a side pocket Roger fished up a folded newspaper which he handed to Esther.
 "Read those," he said, pointing to a couple of bits in the social column, juxtaposed.
 Following his finger Esther read aloud:
 "Arrivals at Claridge's include Senora Toda and her daughter, Senora Inez Toda, who, after spending the winter in the Riviera, are now returning to their home in Argentina."
 "Captain Arthur Holiday, well known in Paris and in Cannes, is staying at Claridge's before sailing from Marseilles for South America, where he has important interests."
 They made a big circuit, and an hour and a half later made for home, approaching the house from a different direction. While still a little distance away they caught sight of a small Aberdeen terrier in the act of disappearing around the corner of a leafy avenue. The dog, red collar and all, had a familiar appearance.
 "Can that be—why, yes, it is, it is Tony," cried Esther, recognizing Lady Clifford's pet. "He must have slipped out. Here, Tony, Tony!"

The Aberdeen turned and bent upon her an inquiring eye, smiled coyly, ylog fashion, wagged his brief tale, then instead of coming closer wheeled about and dashed off down the avenue.
 "It's evidently with someone," Roger remarked. "A man and a woman. Can your long sighted eyes see who they are?"
 "It looks like the doctor," Esther said, hesitating, "and I believe the woman is Lady Clifford."
 As she spoke the pair separated, the woman went on, the dog following, and the man, dressed in a dark suit, along the avenue. It was the doctor, there was no doubt about it now.

There had been something about those two sauntering figures, so close together, that had emphasized the dim instinctive notion she had had before of something between the pair. Yet what was there strange in Lady Clifford's taking a short stroll with her private physician?
 "More of my nonsense," was Esther's mental comment on the matter determinedly out of mind.
 It was much later in the afternoon, nearly 6 o'clock, when Lady Clifford returned, in the Rolls. Esther heard her come upstairs and go to her room, but she did not see her, being busy making Sir Charles ready for the night. When it came time to take the old man's temperature she discovered her watch had stopped, for want of winding. She went into the bathroom to look at the clock on the mantelpiece there, throwing open the door, feeling sure the room was empty. The next instant she heard herself murmuring, "I beg your pardon!" as she retreated hastily, utterly flabbergasted by what she had seen.

Standing bolt upright on the hearth rug was Roger, his arms awkwardly embracing Lady Clifford, who leaned against him, her golden head pressed close to his shoulder, her eyes gazing up at him with every evidence of clinging affection.
 "What heaven's name did it mean?" One of the habits of men most annoying to the opposite sex is their extreme reluctance to give explanations. It is a form of moral cowardice which remains at once their weakness and their strength.

Why on earth Roger should not immediately hasten to explain the amazing attitude in which he had been discovered with Lady Clifford was a thing which puzzled Esther and filled her with chagrin.
 At dinner Lady Clifford appeared a radiant vision in pale green georgette, a little transparent coat veiling the whiteness of her skin, her lustrous pearls heavy upon her white neck. She had an air of gentle sweetness and frankness, Esther had never seen her so charming. She talked to Roger, asked his opinion and advice on various matters, and made herself so agreeable that it was plain that her sister-in-law noticed it and was pleased thereat. Yet although an unprecedented atmosphere of accord prevailed, Roger did not look at ease. When coffee was brought in the drawing room, he drank his hastily and excused himself. A few minutes later she heard a car start in the drive outside, and knew that he had taken himself off somewhere. In spite of herself she felt chilled and hurt. It was an extremely trifling thing to mind, and she did not mind. With a sense of blankness she resigned herself to playing piquet with Miss Clifford, who had made no comment on her nephew's departure. On the chaise longue in the circle of light from a rose-shaded lamp Lady Clifford sat smoking tranquilly, her silver shoe feet in front of her, a fashion magazine spread open on her lap. She seemed at peace with the world. The doctor entered from the hall and crossed the room with his heavy tread, setting his empty coffee cup on a table.

"In a few days we may consider my brother out of danger, may we not, doctor?" Miss Clifford asked.
 Sartorius shook his head with slight disparagement.
 "I certainly trust so, Miss Clifford, but frankly no one can be sure. If everything continues to go smoothly—"

"But why shouldn't it, doctor?" Lady Clifford asked quickly.
 He shrugged his heavy shoulders in a weary fashion.
 "I don't anticipate that it won't, my dear Lady. I only want to warn you both against overoptimism. One must allow oneself to forget Sir Charles' age and the fact that he has been in bad health for some time. Weakened as he is now, with very slight resistance, any shock or slight, the smallest setback might do irreparable harm. However, there is no reason for alarm."
 Miss Clifford sighed deeply, shuffling the cards over and over.

"I was thinking we were safe out of the woods," she said sadly. "Now you've depressed me again!"
 "No, no, you mustn't worry," the doctor assured her, patting her plump shoulder with the deliberate kindness he reserved for her alone. "There is no necessity. Barring accidents we may hope for good things."
 When he uttered the word "accidents," it seemed to Esther that his eyes rested coldly upon her, quite as though she herself might, through some piece of carelessness, endanger Sir Charles' chance of recovery. He on earth did he take that suspicious attitude? It had struck her often the last few days that he was overcritical in regard to her.

"Don't let him upset you," she could not help saying to the old lady whose disturbed face troubled her. "I am sure he only wants to be over-scientious."

"I think nurse is right. Dido, Charles is certainly less feeble than we feared, you and I. The past few days my mind has been at rest. I feel quite sure he is going to get well."
 At that moment one of those exceedingly trifling things occurred which lately seemed constantly coming across her path. A movement of Lady Clifford's arm swept her cigarette ash to the floor, and it fell with a clatter close to the card table. Stopping down Esther picked it up and crossed to restore it to its owner.
 "Merci, mille fois," Therese murmured pleasantly if mechanically, putting out her hand. It was as well as she did not look up, or else she would have seen the sudden dilation of Esther's eyes as she caught sight of the fashion drawings on the two pages in front of her.
 The sketches showed in every detail and with the greatest possible degree of chic and coquetterie, the latest mode in women's gowns.

THE PROBLEM

The sums total of the figures on each of the three elephants pictured herewith are to be given as a solution. You can find the sum total of each elephant by adding up the figures of each. The figures 1, 2, and 3 in the circles in the upper left hand corners of the elephants are simply to identify them. These figures have nothing to do with the elephants' weights.

In submitting your solution you must identify the three elephants by their numbers and give the weights of each. A complete solution means that you are to find the sum total of each elephant. It takes the sum total of each to make one solution. This is a game of skill and not a guessing contest.

There are no "4's" or "elephers" in the elephants. There are no groups of figures, that is, the figure "9" is the highest figure shown. There are no "23's," "55's" or "97's," or like groups. If you find a "2" and a "3" are written so closely together that it looks like "23," it means that "2" and "3" are to be added—just as you would if they were an inch apart.

The tops of the "6's" are distinctly curved, and the bottom of the "9's" are straight or nearly so. There is no trick or illusion in the charts.

GENERAL RULES OF THE CONTEST

1. This contest is open only to residents of Georgia and adjoining states. Both old and new subscribers may enter. No employee or member of an employee's family of The Atlanta Constitution will be allowed to participate in the contest, nor any of the prize winners that have won prizes in excess of $100.00 in any of the elephant contests heretofore conducted by The Atlanta Constitution.

2. Contestants may submit as many different solutions as they may desire, provided a payment of one of the amounts designated in the prize list shall accompany each solution; but no contestant will be permitted to win more than one prize. Once registered a solution cannot be changed. No solution is accompanied by a SUBSCRIPTION PAYMENT WILL BE REGISTERED.

3. The Atlanta Constitution offers these prizes for individual effort. While it is proper for members of one household or several friends to work together, it is not permissible for more than one of those working in union to send a solution of the puzzle. When, in the judgment of the contest manager or The Atlanta Constitution, more than one member of the same family or more than one of any number of persons he believes have worked together, send in a solution of the puzzle, the right is reserved to refund the amount of money paid for subscription and return the solution if it is believed has been submitted contrary to the rules.

4. The Atlanta Constitution reserves the right at any time to reject any solution which it believes has not been submitted under the proper conditions. In other words, any group of persons working together and submitting more than one solution, all submitted by the group will be barred. The Atlanta Constitution also reserves the right to finally decide any other questions or points which may arise in this contest, and participants by sending in their answers agree to accept the decisions of the contest manager or The Atlanta Constitution as conclusive and final.

5. In case of ties, as many prizes will be reserved as there are people tied together for prizes are awarded for a less correct solution; that is, if two or more people should tie in the best solution, the first two or more prizes will be reserved for them, and they will be awarded in order of the standing of their solutions of the second puzzle. That is, the best solution will be awarded the first prize, the next best second and the third best third prize, etc.

6. All solutions with remittances must be delivered to the office of The Atlanta Constitution by 6:00 p. m., Thursday, March 29, 1928, or mailed at any post office in Georgia or adjoining states, bearing postmark of no later date than March 28.

In case of ties, a second puzzle, like the accompanying chart, except larger, will be presented for those tied to solve. The problem will consist of drawing a continuous chain across the chart encircling the figures in the circles. If necessary to eliminate further ties, the puzzle with combinations changed, will be presented for as many as five more times, after which, should any ties exist, each lying contestant will receive the full amount of any prizes tied for.

In case there are no ties on counting elephants no other puzzle, of course, will be presented.

$7,500

Travel and Pedestrian Accident Insurance

issued to annual subscribers and immediate members of a subscriber's family of ages from 15 to 70 at $1.25 per policy each per year. This fee is in addition to the subscription price. Applicants should give name in full, state age and occupation, and when a beneficiary is given be sure to state full Christian name and relationship to the insured.

This insurance feature is separate and independent, and has no connection whatsoever with the elephant contest. Those subscribing for twelve months are eligible to this insurance if desired, but it is entirely optional. This is a feature that is offered to all subscribers of the daily and Sunday Constitution.

Important Facts To Remember

While the amount you pay with a solution of the puzzle does not have any effect on your winning an award, it does affect the amount you will receive should you win, as the value of these awards is determined by what the winners submit in subscription money. This is explained in the awards list, which you should study carefully before sending in your solution. The time a solution is received has no bearing upon its winning an award. Accuracy is what counts. Not more than one award will be awarded to any one person.

NEW ORLEANS DROPS AT CLOSE

New Orleans, March 9.—(AP)—An early advance was not maintained in the cotton market today due to moderate selling in the south and west Texas. Trading which had ruled dull for the greater part of the session lived a somewhat in the afternoon, when the market moved up to 18.44 and closed at 18.45, compared with 18.22 at the previous close. The general market closed steadily at a net decline of 3 to 4 points.

The market opened steady in sympathy with higher Liverpool cables and first trades showed gains of 2 to 3 points. The market continued to move up after the start under the influence of the bullish features of the cotton market. The market was not under pressure, with moderate selling of May against purchases of October. The market was easy during the afternoon, with October narrowed from 48 points at the close of the previous day.

The Day in Finance

BY R. L. BARNUM

New York, March 9.—A weekly decrease of $26,000,000 in brokers' loans when an increase of anywhere from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 was generally expected, led the brokers' loan situation by Governor Young, of the federal reserve board, at the senate investigating committee. The committee was held in session for the first time since the opening of the market this morning together with heavy buying of long stocks. General Motors was again the most active stock on the list, opening with 7,000 shares at 152 against last night's closing of 150-1-2. General Motors was selling at 152-1-2 around 11 o'clock when it was announced that the General Motors Security company, which is owned and managed by executives and officials of General Motors, had purchased an additional 200,000 shares of General Motors stock, at a cost of $30,000,000, paying cash for this stock which averaged close to $150 a share.

This news coming on top of an already excited stock market, caused an outburst of wild speculation such as is seldom witnessed in Wall Street. In customers' rooms of stock exchanges the news of the buying of 200,000 additional shares of General Motors by the Managers' Security company for cash at an average of 150 was greeted with loud and long continued cheering. General Motors immediately jumped from 152-1-2 to 154 and continued to advance until 156-1-4 was reached before noon. A new high for all time. Other stocks, while not as active as General Motors, were also heavily traded in at rapidly advancing prices.

Mystery in Purchase.

Some light was thrown on the unexpected decrease in brokers' loans by the foregoing statement. Wall Street believes, however, that the only way a decrease in brokers' loans could have occurred the past week in view of the very active trading in advancing prices was that large blocks of stock in addition to General Motors were taken out of brokers' hands and placed in banks not reporting to the banks of this federal reserve district.

Managers Securities company was formed in 1923 by officials and managers of General Motors for the purpose of buying and carrying investment stocks. At that time the company had 1,087,500 shares of General Motors stock, which was now capitalized were purchased. It was then that all of this stock is still held.

Inasmuch as General Motors stock has been purchased in the open market, last week for 134-3-4 some surprise was expressed by the market today that the Managers Securities company waited until it had to pay an average price of 150 for the 200,000 shares of General Motors stock.

Wall Street figures today that 100 shares of General Motors purchased in 1908 when the company was formed and held until the present time amounted to 10,038 shares. At 150 is worth $1,505,700. Also that cash dividends amount to $222,880.65.

United States Rubber is expected to publish its 1933 annual report Monday. It is understood that there was a surplus of over $1,000,000 over the preferred dividend of $5,000,000 but that an inventory loss of over $17,000,000 was written from accumulated surplus.

France took $10,000,000 gold from us last December. $7,500,000 this January, $7,500,000 in February and now another $11,000,000 is going, making a total of $36,000,000. France has accumulated $2,000,000,000 of foreign gold in dollars and pounds, held here and in London for her account. Some bankers here expect France to use $250,000,000 of these credits to buy gold mostly here between now and the early summer when France will return to a gold basis and the franc will be stabilized somewhat around the existing level of 330 cents.

In announcing the overflow of $11,000,000 gold to France the Federal Reserve bank here states that this is the first of the $107,000,000 earmarked to go to gold. As the $107,000,000 was earmarked for gold, the gold has been eliminated as a basis for credit, the $11,000,000 gold now going out will have no effect on the money market. The $107,000,000 gold has already been eliminated as a basis for credit, the $11,000,000 gold now going out will have no effect on the money market. The $107,000,000 gold has already been eliminated as a basis for credit, the $11,000,000 gold now going out will have no effect on the money market.

Since the beginning of this year reports on the outlook for the steel industry have been conflicting. In January 10 the $118,000,000 increase in December unfilled orders reported by the steel corporation was surprisingly high. Since then there has been a downward movement in the monthly back log of unfilled orders with operations increased to very near normal.

For the past few weeks some falling off in new orders for steel have been reported with Pittsburgh and Chicago showing a decline in orders. The outlook for the steel industry, however, is not as gloomy as it has been. The steel industry has been abandoned as a convincing evidence of a decided improvement in the outlook. NEW ORLEANS DROPS AT CLOSE

New Orleans, March 9.—(AP)—An early advance was not maintained in the cotton market today due to moderate selling in the south and west Texas. Trading which had ruled dull for the greater part of the session lived a somewhat in the afternoon, when the market moved up to 18.44 and closed at 18.45, compared with 18.22 at the previous close. The general market closed steadily at a net decline of 3 to 4 points.

The market opened steady in sympathy with higher Liverpool cables and first trades showed gains of 2 to 3 points. The market continued to move up after the start under the influence of the bullish features of the cotton market. The market was not under pressure, with moderate selling of May against purchases of October. The market was easy during the afternoon, with October narrowed from 48 points at the close of the previous day.

This news coming on top of an already excited stock market, caused an outburst of wild speculation such as is seldom witnessed in Wall Street. In customers' rooms of stock exchanges the news of the buying of 200,000 additional shares of General Motors by the Managers' Security company for cash at an average of 150 was greeted with loud and long continued cheering. General Motors immediately jumped from 152-1-2 to 154 and continued to advance until 156-1-4 was reached before noon. A new high for all time. Other stocks, while not as active as General Motors, were also heavily traded in at rapidly advancing prices.

AS CHILDREN WIN IN BRITISH VOTE

London, March 9.—(United News.) Ramsay MacDonald, former laborite prime minister, had good reason to smile today.

His son, Malcolm, and his daughter, Isabel, were elected to seats on the London county council.

Among other women to win was the former actress, Kitty Collier, wife of Harry Day, member of the house of commons and leading theatrical producer. She was on the labor ticket, with the MacDonald children.

Three leading society people were defeated—Lady Amberst, Lord Alington, and his sister, the Honorable Lois Stuart, member of the Prince of Wales' social set.

LAWYERS WILL FIGHT 'AMBULANCE CHASING'

"Ambulance chasing" in Atlanta was dealt a blow Friday night, when the Lawyers Club of Atlanta, at its regular monthly meeting at the Kimball house, voted to continue its campaign against such practices.

The club went on record as favoring indictments of all offenders.

It was pointed out that it is against the ethics of the profession to solicit business and that it is a violation of the law.

A feature of the meeting was a talk on "Evolution of the Code of Georgia" by Hooper Alexander, former United States district attorney.

John S. McClelland, who recently was nominated solicitor of the criminal court of Atlanta, in a brief talk thanked friends in the club who supported him during his campaign.

Mr. Alexander made an unusually interesting talk on the Georgia code. He pointed out that 18 different Georgia codes have been published from the first one published in 1752, until the present one.

The chief of the Georgia code, Mr. Alexander, said, was in charge of the meeting.

LAST OF ROBBIE PAID TO S. G. MCLENDON

Distinguished Georgia leaders from many parts of the state joined Friday in Atlanta and Athens in paying final tribute to the memory of Samuel Guyton McLendon, secretary of state of Georgia, and one of the foremost officials in the state for nearly half a century.

The state of Georgia officially paid its respects to the dead official when Governor W. G. Hardaway ordered the state capital closed Friday for the funeral services, which were held in Atlanta and Athens.

Ordered the state flag to be flown at half mast for thirty days and headed a special escort of honor composed of prominent Georgia citizens.

Atlanta exercises were held at the First Baptist church under the direction of Rev. E. M. Poteat, acting pastor. A large crowd of Atlanta friends of Secretary McLendon were present.

After the Atlanta exercises were completed, the body was taken to Athens over the Seaboard Air Line, escorted by honorary pallbearers and close personal friends of Secretary McLendon.

He insisted that the arrival at Athens be made in a private car, and the body was buried in Oconee cemetery beside those of two sons of the secretary of state, Mrs. Emily Hamilton McLendon.

Secretary McLendon was born in McDonough, Ga., March 13, 1857, and spent his whole life in Georgia with the exception of a brief period he lived in Florida. He was an able lawyer and was one of the best informed men in Georgia on public affairs of his state as well as the nation.

HAWES ATTACKS BILL FOR FLOOD CONTROL

Washington, March 9.—(AP)—The Jones bill for Mississippi river flood control was attacked by Senator Hawes, democrat, Missouri, in the senate today. He declared that only three experts of a large number at a flood control conference had approved the Jones plan.

The Jones bill provides for a supervising board of three engineers while one of the Hawes amendments would have the board composed of five persons, two of whom would be civil engineers, two from the army corps and have a civilian executive.

Senator Hawes also opposes division of the cost among the states desiring the federal government to bear the entire expense.

The Missouri senator said, was too great for any state or group of states.

Since 1903, he continued, Mississippi floods had cost the states about $400,000,000. In the same time, he said the states had spent $292,000,000 in flood work and the federal government $72,000,000.

He insisted that the states have the states along the river bear the cost of flood control, and that the federal government should not be a party to the cost.

To Secretary Hoover, the senator attributed an assertion that it was the duty of congress to provide funds for the flood prevention program.

The Jones bill, Senator Hawes said, was not a committee bill, but a bill written by the army under orders of the chief of engineers, General J. W. Johnston, and one repudiated by 95 percent of the witnesses who appeared before the house flood control committee.
